Reducing Risk with Regulatory Planning and Accelerating Approvals in International Markets

Join RegDesk, provider of the most comprehensive AI enabled RIMS platform for MedTech industry for an exclusive opportunity to engage with other industry thought leaders, at an interactive roundtable discussion.

International regulatory systems are becoming increasingly challenging to navigate without insights on the most recent regulations. Often regulatory teams face significant delays due to lack of visibility into regulatory requirements, timelines, and resources. Effective leaders can transpose their teams from reactive to proactive with better planning, regulatory intelligence, and submission tools.

The focus of discussion will be on how regulatory leaders can leverage regulatory intelligence, tracking, and submission tools to ensure their teams will not be handicapped by employee turnover, seamlessly maintain compliance globally, and prepare and submit applications whether for MDR/IVDR or to NMPA in China expeditiously.
